

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
ABILENE DIVISION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
Respondent,

VS.

ERIC ANTHONY THOMAS
Defendant,

CASE NO.5-93CR0013-C

MOTION FOR A REDUCTION IN TERM OF IMPRISONMENT
PURSUANT TO TITLE 18 U.S.C. § 3582(c)(2)

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

COMES NOW, ERIC ANTHONY THOMAS, the Defendant, pro-se in the above style and number cause and respectfully moves the Court for a consideration of a reduction in his term of imprisonment pursuant to Title 18 U.S.C. § 3582(c)(2). And thus shows the following in support of his motion:

Title 18 U.S.C. § 3582(c)(2) provides that a court may consider reducing a defendant's term of imprisonment if such a reduction is consistent with applicable policy statements issued in the Sentencing Guidelines. When the defendant is serving a term of imprisonment and the guideline range applicable to that defendant has been lowered as a result of a retroactive application of the amendment. See United States v. Towe, 26 F.3d 614 (5th Cir.1994).

In sub judice, the defendant was convicted and sentence in an offense involving cocaine base "crack." On November 1, 2007, amendment 706 became effective which pertained to defendants sentence in offenses involving cocaine base "crack." And that such defendants will be eligible for a two (2) level reduction in their base offense levels under the said amendment. On Dec.11,2007, the United States Sentencing Commission voted for this amendment to be applied retroactive to defendant sentenced prior to the November 1,2007, effective date. And placed amendment 706 as amended by 711 under the United States Guidelines' 1B1.10 section signifying that such amendment shall be applied retroactively.

The defendant in this case was initially sentenced as a base offense level 34, criminal history category III which rendered a sentencing guideline range of 188-235 months. And when applying the retroactive amendment 711 to the defendant's case it reduces his base offense level to 32, criminal history category III, and a sentencing guideline range of 151-188 months instead of 188-235 months. And when considering that the defendant received a 220 month term of imprisonment under the previous guideline range it seems appropriate to sentence the defendant now to the top half of his applicable guideline range when applying the retroactive amendment. See United States v. Huskey, 137 F.3d 283 (5th Cir.1998).

But when determining the appropriate sentence to be impose upon resentencing there are factors under Title 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a) that must be considered that were not considered when the defendant's sentence was initially imposed such as rehabilitation, disadvantage upbringing, substance addiction, age, family ties and responsibilities as well many other personal factors. See United States v. Hicks, 474 F.3d 1167 (9th Cir.2007).

As for the defendant's post rehabilitation the defendant has completed the following 34 courses and programs during his post rehabilitation. See [Exhibit I].

The district court shall also be reminded that the United States Supreme Court has just recently ruled that the district court judges does have their discretionary powers to impose the sentence it sees desired upon determining the appropriate sentence during the resentencing of the defendant. As the United States Sentencing Guidelines are no longer mandatory but are advisory. See United States v. Gall, 552 U.S. ___, 2007; Kimbrough v. United States, No.06-6330. Therefore, the defendant argues that the district court did not consider any of the above factors when imposing his initial sentence but must now consider these factors when determining the new sentence to be impose subsequent to the Supreme Court's decision in United States v. Booker, 543 U.S. 220 (2005), upon the granting of his 3582 motion. See United States v. Hicks, 472 F.3d 1167 (9th Cir.2007).

When determining the appropriate sentence to be imposed upon resentencing the defendant argues that he shall receive a sentence below or at the bottom of his now applicable guideline range when considering the above factors especially when considering the defendant received his GED while incarcerated along with having successfully completed 33 other courses and programs while incarcerated. And there is absolutely no doubt that the defendant is entitled to the relief sought under the retroactive amendment pursuant to Title 18 U.S.C. § 3582(c)(2). See Towe, supra.

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDER, ERIC ANTHONY THOMAS, the Defendant prays the Honorable Court grants his motion pursuant to Title 18 U.S.C. § 3582(c)(2) and vacate the defendant's sentence. And order the defendant remanded for resentencing under Title 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a) and with consideration of the Court's discretionary power to determin and impose the new sentence under the advisory guidelines under Gall, supra; Kimbrough, supra. All other relief deemed appropriate in this case.

MOTION FOR DISCLOSURE OF PRESENTENCE REPORT

The United States of America, by and through the United States Attorney for the Northern District of Texas, moves this Court for an order to disclose the Presentence Report prepared in the case, and, in support of such motion, shows as follows:

The defendant has filed a motion to reduce his sentence under 18 U.S.C. § 3582(c)(2) on the basis of Amendment 706 to Section 2D1.1 of the United States Sentencing Guidelines. Due to the age of the case, the United States Attorney's Office no longer has its case file or access to the Presentence Report prepared for the court and previously provided to the attorney for the government and the defendant (through his counsel). The Presentence Report would assist the government in properly analyzing the merits of the defendant's assertions.

As the defendant is in custody at this time and his motion was filed pro se, the government was not able to confer with him regarding this motion.

Respectfully submitted,

17. In addressing a possible sentencing reduction under 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a), the district court is required to look to the factors set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a). Those factors include, but are not limited to:

(1) the nature and circumstances of the offense and the history and characteristics of the defendant;

(2) the need for the sentence imposed –

(A) to reflect the seriousness of the offense, to promote respect for the law, and to provide just punishment for the offense;

(B) to afford adequate deterrence to criminal conduct;

(C) to protect the public from further crimes of the defendant; and

(D) to provide the defendant with needed educational or vocational training, medical care, or other correctional treatment in the most effective manner;

(3) the kinds of sentences available;

(4) the kinds of sentence and the sentencing range established for –

(A) the applicable category of offense committed by the applicable category of defendant as set forth in the guidelines ...;

(5) any pertinent policy statement ...;

(6) the need to avoid unwarranted sentence disparities among defendants with similar records who have been found guilty of similar conduct; and

(7) the need to provide restitution to any victims of the offense.

For purposes of aiding the Court to determine whether your sentence should be reduced, please provide answers to the following questions:

17a. What information would you like the Court to know regarding the above-listed factors under 18 U.S.C. § 3553(a)

Post sentence rehabilitation such as successfully completing several educational programs And the 100 to 7 ratio under recent Supreme Court's decision in Gall, Kimbrough and Booker

17b. Please list any good conduct by you that occurred after your original sentencing hearing and that you would like the court to know in deciding whether you should receive a sentence reduction and the extent of the reduction (examples include participation in a drug treatment program, completion of your GED or other degree).
